

member of the Carolina Light Infantry of Charleston, S. C. we were ordered into Camps after the Ordinance of Secession passed. We assembled at the German Artillery Hall on Wentworth St. to receive instructions, knapsacks, etc. We were commanded by the lamented J. Johnston Pettigrew. We marched down meeting to Broad St. thence to Boyce's Wharf, where we boarded the steamer for Castle Pinckney. We found the fort all quiet and serene, it having been evacuated the night before. But now the sad part of that trip. Mr. Robert Holmes was corporal of the guard. On his relief was challenged of the guard, who brought his gun to a charge and fired, killing poor Holmes instantly. He undoubtedly was the first man killed in the War. The next morning we took fort Moultrie, found it too had been left to its fate by Anderson. We were next ordered to Morris Island and were stationed near the gun that was fired at the Star of the West. Mr. G. E. Hayneworth, a Citadel Cadet at the time, fired the gun. I saw him pull the trigger. I could give you a few more incidents, but will not weary you further now."
